A Violent Bushand on Trial.

The greater portion of yesterday was occupied in the criminal court by the trial of Robert Corbin on the charge of assault with intent to kill James Carier. The prosecuting Witness falled to answer when called in the morning, and it being ascertained that he was a prisoner to jail the government sent for him and the trial went forward. Margaret Boots testilied that while walking in company with Corbin they met Carter, who asked her escort to go up the road and fight. She walked along, and directly heard a shot fired. Carier was then called, and said that he met Corbin near Uniontown, bowling as he passed and talking to himself. Corbin said to him that he would go to see his Carter's wife when he pleased, and he told Corbin that he would whip him for it. Corbin then drew a piloti, fired, and the ball entered the witness's hip. On cross-examination Carter testified that he loved his wife, but was now in jail for bling her car off, and had been there before for beating her. The trial was not concluded when the court adjourned for the day. A Violent Bushand on Trial.

The Treasury Ventilation. The unhealthy condition of the Treasury Department, for want of proper ventilation, has long been a subject of just complaint on the part of those employed in the sub-basement. Several members of Congress have made complaint on these grounds, in consequence of which a system of ventilation has been earnanged for the redemption division, where the handling of worn-out paper money made the atmosphere inhearably foul. Other portions of the sub-basement, however, are fully as much in need of improvement. Architect Bell and Surgeon General Hamilton, who were appointed a commission to look into the matter, have recommended that a new system of ventilation be adopted. It is recommended that the 150 persons employed in the printing office, folding room, &c., be transferred to other quarters until this is done.

PROF. J. M. HEARD, of New York city, member Royal College of Veterinary Surgeous of England; professor of the surgery of the Horse New York Veterinary College; veterinary surgeon of the Third Avenue Italiway Company of New York city (2,500 horses), dec. says; "I take great pleasure in testifying to the valuable properties possessed by the Liebig Co. says; surgeon or horse owner can bafford to be without it." The District Consus. The police begin to-day taking the census of the District. No names will be taken, but imply a count or tally. The hours for taking the count will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Health Officer Townshead yesterday requested Health Officer Townshead yesterday requested that the officers be required to obtain statistics as to the number of births which have coursed within a year, for the purpose of perfecting the comparative vital statistics of the District. It is claimed that the number of births annually exceed the number of deaths. All the deaths are necessarily reported, but only a small proportion of the births, consequently the incomplete statistics show an excess of deaths.
